Kemble House is a specialist residential service, supporting up to 15 adults with complex additional needs. Located within a welcoming residential community, the service offers a safe and structured environment where individuals are supported to build confidence, develop skills and work towards greater independence.

Support at Kemble House is highly personalised, with care plans shaped around each individual's strengths, goals and aspirations. The team works collaboratively with families, professionals and local organisations to create meaningful opportunities for growth, including access to education, volunteering and social activities.

A strong emphasis is placed on wellbeing, with initiatives such as a monthly autism discussion group and dedicated spaces like the reflexology room supporting emotional health and self-esteem.

The service provides 24-hour support within comfortable en-suite accommodation, alongside shared spaces that encourage social interaction and community living.

With excellent access to local amenities, green spaces and transport links into Central London, Kemble House offers a supportive environment where individuals can build independence while remaining connected to their wider community.
