St George's is a specialist residential service supporting up to five adults with autism, mental health conditions and complex needs. The home provides a safe, structured and homely environment where individuals are encouraged to build confidence, develop independence and achieve meaningful outcomes.

At St George's, support is led by a person-centred approach, with tailored care plans designed around each individual's needs, preferences and aspirations.

The experienced team uses Positive Behaviour Support and low arousal approaches to promote wellbeing, alongside proactive monitoring and early intervention.

Individuals are supported through regular keyworker sessions and collaborative working with external professionals, ensuring consistent and responsive care.

The home offers personalised bedrooms and shared living spaces that encourage social interaction and choice, with individuals actively involved in shaping their daily routines, activities and environment.

Strong links within the local community, alongside opportunities for physical activity and meaningful engagement, support individuals to build independence, maintain relationships and achieve long-term positive outcomes.
