Pinetrees is a specialist residential service, supporting up to six adults with autism, learning disabilities and associated complex needs.

Set within a quiet, community-based cul-de-sac, the home offers a calm and therapeutic environment where individuals can feel safe, valued and supported to build greater independence.

At Pinetrees, support is tailored around each person's goals, strengths and aspirations. A trauma-informed, person-centred approach is at the core of the service, with dedicated keyworkers and a skilled staff team supporting individuals to develop cognitive, emotional and daily living skills.

The service works collaboratively with multidisciplinary teams and community professionals to ensure comprehensive, joined-up care that promotes progression and positive outcomes.

The home offers six en-suite bedrooms alongside inviting communal spaces, including a sensory room, activity areas and a garden designed to support engagement and wellbeing.

With access to local amenities, transport links and structured daily routines shaped around individual interests, Pinetrees provides a supportive pathway towards increased independence within a nurturing, homely setting.
