2. Introduction

At Liverpool Progressive School, every pupil has the right to learn and grow in a safe place, free from bullying. Many of our pupils have experienced trauma, exclusion or instability, and bullying can deepen those wounds. We are committed to challenging bullying in all its forms and to building a culture of respect, empathy and inclusion.

This policy sets out how we prevent bullying, how we respond when it happens, and how we support everyone involved. It is part of how we keep pupils safe and how we promote mutual respect and tolerance across the school.

3. Aim & Scope

This policy applies to all staff, governors, pupils, parents and carers, and visitors at Liverpool Progressive School. It aims to:

- Prevent bullying and build a culture of respect and inclusion.
- Make sure everyone can recognise bullying and knows how to report it.
- Respond quickly, fairly and supportively when bullying happens.
- Support the pupil who has been bullied and help the pupil who has bullied to change their behaviour.
- Record, monitor and learn from bullying so our prevention keeps improving.

4. Abbreviations and Definitions

Bullying. Behaviour by an individual or group, usually repeated over time, that intentionally hurts another person physically or emotionally. It often involves a misuse of power. A one-off incident can also be serious and is dealt with under this policy.

Bullying can take many forms, including:

- Physical, for example hitting, kicking or taking belongings.
- Verbal, for example name-calling, insults or threats.
- Emotional or social, for example leaving someone out, humiliating them or spreading rumours.
- Prejudice-based, targeting race, religion, sex, disability, sexual orientation, gender identity or another characteristic.
- Cyberbullying, for example abuse, threats or exclusion through phones, messaging, social media, games or other online platforms.

Child-on-child abuse. Some bullying is also child-on-child abuse and is dealt with through our safeguarding procedures. This includes sexual violence and sexual harassment, sexualised language, the sharing of nude or semi-nude images, misogyny and other prejudice, and the creation or sharing of AI-generated or faked sexual images, sometimes called deepfakes.

5. Policy Content

5.1 Principles and Approach

Our approach rests on the following principles.

Every pupil safe. No pupil should have to put up with bullying, and every report is taken seriously.

Relational and trauma-informed. We understand behaviour as communication and respond in line with the Keys Connect model, using restorative approaches.

Address behaviour, not labels. We are clear that bullying is wrong, while supporting the pupil who has bullied to understand the harm and change, rather than labelling the child.

Positive norms. We use language that does not normalise harmful behaviour or stigmatise any group, and we model the respect we expect.

Partnership. We work with pupils, families and other agencies to keep pupils safe.

5.2 Anti-Bullying in Practice

Preventing bullying

- We build a culture of respect, inclusion and positive relationships.
- We teach empathy, difference and online safety through PSHE, relationships education and tutor time.
- We identify and supervise the times and places where bullying is more likely.
- We encourage pupils and staff to speak out, and we act when they do.

Recognising bullying

Staff stay alert to possible signs of bullying, for example a pupil becoming withdrawn or anxious, a change in mood or behaviour, unexplained injuries, a drop in attendance or progress, self-harm, or a pupil starting to bully others. Signs can be subtle in pupils with complex needs, so staff notice and ask.

Reporting bullying

Pupils can report bullying to any trusted adult, and we provide safe and accessible ways to report, including confidential reporting channels and, where appropriate, anonymous reporting mechanisms. We make sure pupils know how to report and that they will be listened to.

Responding to bullying

- We take every report seriously and act quickly.
- We support the pupil who has been bullied with reassurance and practical help.
- We address the behaviour of the pupil who has bullied through restorative conversations and, where needed, proportionate consequences.
- We keep in contact with parents and carers, and we follow up to check the bullying has stopped.

Support and consequences

Consequences are proportionate and aim to change behaviour. They may include restorative meetings, loss of privileges, increased supervision and parental involvement, and as a last resort suspension in line with the Behaviour policy (EDU.POL.027). We also provide support to both pupils, and we make a safeguarding referral or seek multi-agency help where it is needed.

Cyberbullying and online bullying

We treat bullying through phones and online with the same seriousness as any other bullying. We work with pupils and families to prevent it, respond to it, and keep evidence. Staff conduct relating to mobile phones and pupils' use of devices is addressed within the Mobile Phone and Online Safety policies (EDU.POL.009).

Bullying off-site and online

Bullying that happens away from school, including online and on the way to and from school, is treated with the same seriousness. We investigate and take appropriate action so far as is reasonable, and we work with parents, carers and other agencies where needed.

Bullying as a safeguarding concern

Where bullying raises a safeguarding concern, including any child-on-child abuse, staff report it to the designated safeguarding lead immediately. It is recorded on CPOMS, risk assessments are reviewed, and we follow our Safeguarding policy (EDE.POL.002). Child-on-child abuse is never dismissed as banter or part of growing up.

5.3 Recording, Monitoring and Reporting

Bullying incidents are recorded on CPOMS, and the reporting form, restorative template and parent letter are held by the designated safeguarding lead. Leaders analyse bullying data, including by pupil group such as pupils with SEND, to spot trends and target prevention, and report to the proprietor and governors.

5.4 Equality and Inclusion

At Liverpool Progressive School, this policy is applied fairly and without discrimination, in line with the Equality Act 2010. We robustly challenge prejudice-based and discriminatory bullying linked to any protected characteristic, and we monitor whether any group is more affected so we can act. Anti-bullying is one of the clearest ways we promote mutual respect and tolerance across the school.

Bullying incidents involving protected characteristics will be recorded and analysed separately to identify patterns, trends and required actions.

6. Responsibilities

6.1 Pupils

Treat others with respect, speak out if they see or experience bullying, and support one another.

6.2 Staff

model respect, stay alert to the signs of bullying, act on every concern promptly, record incidents, and support both the pupil who has been bullied and the pupil who has bullied.

6.3 Leadership and the designated safeguarding lead

Leadership at Liverpool Progressive School makes sure this policy works in practice, that staff are trained, and that bullying data is analysed and acted on. The designated safeguarding lead leads on any bullying that is also a safeguarding concern.

6.4 Governance

The proprietor and governors at Liverpool Progressive School hold the school to account for an effective anti-bullying strategy and review the impact of this policy.

6.5 Parents and carers

Tell the school if they are worried about bullying, and work with the school to resolve it.

6.6 Named leads

The designated safeguarding lead at Liverpool Progressive School is Fiona Mulholland.

7. Training Requirements

All staff at Liverpool Progressive School are trained in recognising and responding to bullying, in trauma-informed and restorative practice, and in child-on-child abuse, with annual refreshers. Training is updated in response to emerging issues, for example cyberbullying, misogyny and AI-generated images.

8. Equality Impact Statement

All policies will be developed and implemented in a manner that promotes equality, diversity, and inclusion, ensuring fair and equitable treatment for all individuals. Policies must align with relevant equality legislation and reflect the expectations and standards set by our regulatory bodies. They will demonstrate a commitment to eliminating discrimination, advancing equality of opportunity, and fostering an inclusive environment that respects and values the diverse needs, backgrounds, and experiences of those we support, as well as our workforce.

9. Sources of Information / References

This policy reflects current statutory guidance and legislation, including:

- The Education (Independent School Standards) Regulations 2014, standard 10, which requires an effective strategy to prevent bullying so far as reasonably practicable

11.1 Appendix A: School-Specific Annex

The Head completes this annex with local detail so the policy is true for this school. Everything in this annex is school personalisation.

At Liverpool Progressive School, the following local arrangements apply:

- Designated safeguarding lead and deputy:
  - Fiona Mulholland (DSL), Mike Hussey, Anthony Saleh, Jennifer Farrell, Sarah Jones, Alex Harvey
- Local authority safeguarding team and other key contacts:
  - Cath Ballans or Pauline Trubshaw, LADO, Liverpool.
- How pupils report bullying at this school, including any anonymous route:
  - Any concerns about bullying will be raised through conversation with a trusted adult. This can be the adult working with the student or someone else. All reports are treated seriously and will be logged on CPOMS by the member of staff taking the disclosure. Should a student wish to report a bullying concern anonymously, this can be done by leaving a written note in the 'Suggestions' box located in Reception, which is checked on a regular basis and at least weekly.
- Local enrichment or peer support that builds a respectful culture:
  - At Liverpool Progressive School, we foster a culture of respect, acceptance, and inclusion where everyone is valued and treated with dignity. We celebrate diversity through a range of activities and events throughout the year that reflect the society in which we live and recognise the unique contributions of all individuals. Respect and inclusion are embedded throughout our curriculum, policies, and daily practice. We actively encourage pupils, staff, parents, and visitors to raise any concerns they may have, and we are committed to listening, responding appropriately, and promoting an environment where everyone feels safe, supported, and heard.
