The White House is a specialist residential service, supporting up to seven adults with learning disabilities and autism. Situated in a quiet residential area, the service provides a safe and supportive environment where individuals are encouraged to build skills, increase independence and work towards their personal goals.

Support at The White House is delivered through a person-centred approach, with tailored care plans developed in partnership with each individual.

The team provides active support, helping individuals to develop daily living skills, manage their health, build social connections and access education, training or employment opportunities.

Dedicated keyworkers ensure consistent support, empowering individuals to take an active role in shaping their future.

The home offers comfortable accommodation alongside shared spaces designed to meet sensory and relaxation needs, including a dedicated sensory room.

With access to local amenities, community activities and nearby coastal and city locations, The White House supports individuals to enjoy meaningful experiences, build confidence and develop a more independent and fulfilling lifestyle.
